KIDDIES ENJOY XMAS FEAST

MANY CHILDREN ENTERTAINED WITH EATS AND PRESENTS.

"In-as-much as ye have done it to the least of these, my brethren, so have ye also done it unto me," so sayeth the Lord.

among the Masonic fraternity when they took into consideration the children of the city this year and asked about 150 of them to become their little guests at a Christmas dinner Friday night. Selfishness was cast to the winds and generosity sat upon the throne and nothing was left undone to make this affair just what it should be—a happiness bringer to scores of little children.

It was one grand afternoon, beginning with a movie show that was given complimentary by the Grayling Opera house which lasted until 4 p. m., after which the children marched into the dining room below.

And to the little guests it was a real occasion and one that they will long remember. Turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, delicious milk and cocoa, cake and many other goodies that were prepared just as good as the best cooks of Grayling could prepare them, were spread before them. There was special music, selected by Prof. Clark and played by his excellent orchestra through the dinner. Ladies of the Eastern Star chapter prepared the banquet and assisted their brother Masons in attending the tables.

One large low table with small chairs was placed for the little tots, while others filled the many long tables of the Masonic banquet room. On the tables were miniature Christmas trees to add to the attractiveness of the beautifully furnished tables, and the scene as the children gathered about the festive boards was an inspiration that would melt the heart of the most stubborn scrooge if any such was present. The delight of the little guests was only exceeded by the hosts themselves. There were goodies galore and to many this was a feast of feasts.

No less an attraction was the big Christmas tree with its spreading branches vainly trying to hide mountains of mysterious looking packages that soon found themselves possessed by some little girl or boy and were carried home as presents from Old Santa. Candy, nuts, apples and oranges added to the big loads of the little tots, and almost overloaded them. When all was over and Santa had distributed the last present, the children were bundled into their wraps and sent home in sleighs.

There were many glad hearts that night and the Masons and the ladies of the O. E. S. are to be complimented on their act and upon the successful manner in which it was carried out.

PERRY OSTRANDER PASSED AWAY

WAS ONE OF COUNTY'S BEST KNOWN PIONEER CITIZENS.

Perry Ostrander age 83 years, passed away at his home in the city Wednesday afternoon. For some time he had been in feeble health and gradually became weaker until finally rest came to relieve him of his earthly duties and marked the ending of an active and useful life.

Uncle Perry, as he was best known by his friends, was one of God's own men, and we love to think over the many pleasant chats we have had with him in our office. He was devoted to his home and family, a true loyal citizen and has been an ardent promoter of good citizenship and of the welfare of his community. We are deeply grieved to know that his hand is still on the scales of justice.

Oliver Hazard Perry Ostrander was born in Clay County, Indiana, New York, April 1, 1841. When but a youth he came to Michigan and resided in the southern part of the state for about 25 years, the time divided between Wayne, Ingham and Shiawassee counties. He knew Crawford County when it was young and was well versed in its history and knowledge of the men and women who played strong parts in its early development. To know the venerable old man was a pleasure and a delight and we are sure his memory will be for many years to come.

He resided on the old homestead until the summer of June 1921, when the structure was burned to the ground by forest fires, while Mr. and Mrs. Ostrander stood by and looked on. After losing their home they came to Grayling and have since resided with their son Arthur. Mr. Ostrander was a charter member of the Crawford County Grange, being master for a number of years. He also for a time was a state deputy of the organization and spent a short term of writing Grange fire insurance.

Besides his aged wife who recently suffered a paralytic stroke, five sons and two daughters survive, Elmer Ostrander, who resides at his farm in Pere Cheney adjoining the old homestead; Lewis W. of Hillman, now serving as prosecuting attorney of Montmorency county; Charles, Frank, Arthur, Mrs. Frank Whipple and Mrs. Charles Waldron of this city.

The funeral of Mr. Ostrander will be held Saturday with a brief prayer at the home followed by a service at the Michelson Memorial church at 2:00 o'clock. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

IN THE INTEREST OF CONSERVATION.

Michigan Sportsman Magazine Publicity Bureau.

During the coming session of the State Legislature, there are a number of bills which should be passed in the interest of Conservation and the sportsman of Michigan.

We will enumerate some of them and incidentally tell where the Michigan Sportsman stands in its efforts to establish Michigan, beyond a doubt, as the leading Conservationist state in the Union.

The following we firmly believe to be conducive to the betterment of Michigan.

1—A sentence of imprisonment for willful violation of game laws of the State—namely the killing of deer out of season, dynamiting of fish or the trapping or spearing of trout. Too many violators are getting away with small fines.

2—A fishing license of one dollar to fish on all private and public waters of the State excepting parties owning property adjoining waters in which they fish, or who lease said property for yearly periods.

3—An extension of ten days of the present deer hunting season. With the one buck law in effect this will not increase the killings and will give the busy man more opportunity to go hunting.

4—Close the deer season in the lower peninsula for from three to five years. This law is plainly a necessity to preserve the few remaining deer.

5—Partridge. Alternates open and closed season on partridge in the lower peninsula, lower bag limit and unlawful to shoot birds on or from public highways. We solicit the opinion of the upper peninsula sportsmen on their wishes.

6—Rabbits. Open season on both cotton-tail and snow-shoes (jacks) from October 1 until February 15. Day limit of five with limit of same number in possession. This will "put a ring in the gamehog nose."

7—Trout. Legal limit of eight inches with day limit of twenty with twenty-five in possession. The present limit does not outlaw the gamehog.

8—Bass. Day limit of five.

9—Pike. Day limit of five with a legal length of fifteen inches. This law is an absolute necessity.

10—Spearing. Unlawful to have spear in possession on any of the inland waters of the State except by permit to take carp, mullet, reddsides, suckers and whitefish.

11—A lower day limit on blue-gills and perch.

12—Conservation Commission to have power to condemn property for entrance to all lakes over five acres in extent that same may furnish the maximum of sport and recreation to the people.

13—Department of Conservation to have power to build dams in streams to increase the lake across on public lands.

14—Private parties and clubs to be protected from trespass on lakes and artificial ponds only if said lakes and ponds are fished by sufficient people to take the full fish crop.

15—An idle land tax, to be increased yearly, on all lands over 80 acres not being used for farming, grazing, or reforestation. We will discuss this measure at length in future issues.

16—A great increase in the powers and duties of the State Conservation Commission that they may re-stock, re-forest and protect the wild life of Michigan.

Three More, By Gum!

Three more registered purebred heifers added to Crawford County's rising tide of better stock.

This time they go to South Branch Township, and are brought in by John McGillis.

On Friday before Christmas I had the privilege of going with Mr. McGillis from Roscommon to the Booth Farm, ten miles southwest of Gladwin to attend a sale of 22 registered purebred Holsteins, all young, surplus stock, tuberculin tested.

We found the warm, white washed basement of a good barn full of Holsteins of all ages. To make room, 22 were being sold.

About 100 bidders were present, and the stock went quickly. However, John was alert, and grabbed off three choice heifers. 1 Wolverine Flint Palmyra, was born January 2, 1922. She is an extra fine, evenly marked growthy heifer, carrying splendid blood lines of King Segis on her dam's side.

She has a young sire that is bound to make good, as he is sired by the noted King Flint, who is noted thru his dam which produced 1007.76 lbs. butter in ten months as a four-year old.

The next was Wolverine Flint One, born March 6, 1922, and the most richly bred heifer in the sale, straight and smooth with good depth and type.

The third, Pauline Colantha De Kol Girl, born August 10, 1920, from a heavy producing dam, and sired by King Colantha De Oakdale whose sire has sired three daughters that averaged 2252 pounds of milk each in one year.

Mr. McGillis purchased these as foundation stock for the new and better herd he now begins to build.

Before going to the sale, he did a most commendable thing, sold out the scrub herd, lock, stock and barrel, burned his bridges behind him, as you might say.

With the choice $400 sire, that he secured from the New York Central Lines, Mr. McGillis is all set to march onward and upward in the dairy business.

Knockers, Do Your Duty!

Mr. McGillis will need a skin as thick as that of a rhinoceros for a while, as everybody does who tries to do anything different from the crowd; for the knocker and sneerer will now get in his work. They always do.

Three More.

Besides making a clean start on a better herd, Mr. McGillis subscribed for Hoard's Dairyman. He was quickly followed by Elmer Ostrander and O. B. Scott. The reading of this the world's best dairy paper, will not make a first class dairyman overnight, but it will, the course of a few months, give a cow owner such a wealth of information and inspiration

INTERESTING FACTS

306,327 Ford Cars and Trucks Retailed in November

Approximately same number scheduled for delivery this month

What Does this Mean?

This volume of deliveries to actual owners is entirely unprecedented for this time of the year—

It has taxed the manufacturing ability of the Ford plants working at full capacity—

It indicates a volume of business during the rapidly approaching months of "heavy demand" which will be far beyond the maximum production schedule which the Ford Motor Company has set— And that means a Ford shortage even more acute than the one which existed last Spring and Summer.

Dealers' Stocks all over the Country are low—there are no reserves to draw upon to meet the demands for delivery—

There is no way in which dealer reserves can be built up, as deliveries have been made to customers as fast as Cars could be manufactured since last April.

The only way you can protect your desire to obtain prompt delivery of a Ford even at this time is to place your order immediately.

This emphasizes more strongly than anything we could possibly say the necessity of your making prompt arrangements with a Ford Dealer for the listing of your order, particularly if you are contemplating the purchase of a Ford car or truck for use this Spring or Summer.

We believe you are entitled to know these facts as they actually exist.

SAY KILLIFER WILL RETIRE

Los Angeles Fandom Has Rumor That Manager Might Not Be Retained by Wrigley.

Los Angeles fandom was "startled" last week by an announcement that Wade Killifer might not be retained as manager of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league. It seems that Killifer signed a contract for one year only and that either he or the club owner, Mr. Wrigley, has ideas as to what terms should be for 1923. The general bet, however, is that it is a winter story only and that spring will see Wade Killifer on the job as usual, in spite of the fact that Ben Nicholson, a free agent, is wintering in Los Angeles and open to bids.

COLLEGE GRID GAME GREATEST OF SPORT

Schedule Is Short and Fans Do Not Tire of Game.

Athlete Spends Much Physical Energy and Gives Much of His Time for Praises of Fellow Students—Ohio Favored.

While not greatly admired over the prospect, often one finds himself in a reverie as to what is the possible future of football. It is the most delightful sport on the schedule today for many reasons, and whether it will remain so is a matter of concern, says a writer in an exchange.

Football has intrinsic merit as a retailer of hot interest because each college team continues its schedule to something like ten or eleven weeks. It is all over before one loses zest for it. It is a game that is so splendidly amateur still that it thrills all sorts of patronage. Where is there an athlete who spends so much of physical energy and gives so much of his time to a cause as the college football player? He does it all for the plaudits his student friends give him if successful, or he bears his bruises in silence if he falls just short of being a success. He gets some valuable lessons out of it, of course, but in the main he pays pretty well for what he secures. But of late we have noted a stadium size development in football and a winning team has been emphasized more than the good that the college and players themselves get out of this "safer" game in good hard competition in which the end is clear sport rather than a winner. Stadium cannot be paid for with losing teams, so there is a hint at pressure to get a winner and attract the big crowds. Not all institutions are so happily favored as Ohio State, where a stadium was erected by subscription, but our exception here simply drives home the point that in other institutions conditions are not always so favorable—in other words, not many colleges and universities have a Columbus that is loyal to its team in lean as well as prosperous years.

We hate to see an attitude where "What is the after-lance going to be?" is a question almost as naturally asked as "Is our team going to fight to the limit tomorrow?"

One may talk until blue around the gills about the evils of pro football—and they are evils—but there are no conscious evils that colleges themselves just forming that must be watched. The size of a crowd or what comes in at the gate is not the thing. Real sportsmanship on the field and a giving of all a player has under wise coaching is the thing. A winner is desirable, but not to pay for a stadium.

URGES BUDDIES TO PAY DUES

Major General Tyndall, National Treasurer, Advocates Financial Independence.

Credit of the American Legion's sound financial standing is given by Legionnaires to Maj. Gen. Robert Tyndall of Indianapolis, recently re-appointed national treasurer of the ex-service men's organization.

Robert H. Tyndall

At all national conventions and Legion gatherings of various kinds, General Tyndall has insisted upon the adoption of a financial policy whereby national headquarters shall be able to stand upon its own feet without incurring any outside obligation forcing the Legion to lose a bit of its independence and freedom of action.

General Tyndall's message to Legionnaires this year is a reiteration of his advocacy of financial independence with a request that Legion members pay their dues early in order that the posts may find themselves free to carry out the program of relief for disabled, Americanism and other important measures. General Tyndall believes that too much energy is expended in the collection of dues which should be paid to the post finance officer upon notification of the member.

The military career of General Tyndall dates back to 1907, when he enlisted as a private. He served in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war, on the Mexican border as commanding officer of the One Hundred and Fiftieth artillery division in the World war, participating in all major offensives. He now commands the Thirty-eighth National Guard division.

HELP WIN THE WORLD WAR

National Vice Commander, of Wyoming, Typifies Spirit of the West in Great Conflict.

Chiles P. Plummer of Casper, Wyo., national vice commander of the American Legion, typifies the spirit of the West in the World war. Although he was thirty-eight years old at its outbreak, he couldn't stay out of it at its own break. So he threw away his four-gun chapeau and donned a campaign hat, spending twenty-two months in the service.

Mr. Plummer Chiles Plummer served as captain of artillery in the One Hundred Sixteenth ammunition train, composed of two battalions of the old Third Wyoming infantry, remaining fifteen months in France, where his organization was a part of the Forty-first division.

An organizer of the George Vroman post of the Legion at Casper, Mr. Plummer served as its first commander. He was active in outfitting clubrooms for that post and in its general development. A fighter for the rights of disabled ex-service men, Mr. Plummer's activity in their behalf obtained national recognition, resulting in his election as national executive committee member, and later as national vice commander. He is a lawyer, was educated at the University of Illinois and is proud of the fact that he is a fraternity brother of Alvin M. Owsley, Legion national commander.

NOT TO ASK RED CROSS AID

American Legion Posts Will Not Request Funds in the Hands of the Local Chapters.

Funds in the hands of local chapters of the American Red Cross will not be asked for by American Legion posts, according to Lemuel Bolles, Legion national adjutant.

"The American Red Cross is co-operating with the American Legion in every way in the furnishing of funds for service to the sick and disabled, and in many localities is furnishing direct relief to service men and their families," Mr. Bolles said. "Funds in the hands of local chapters of the American Red Cross should not be confused with the residue funds of the war chest, or other emergency war organizations which, during the war raised money for work among soldiers and sailors, but which ceased to function at the conclusion of hostilities."

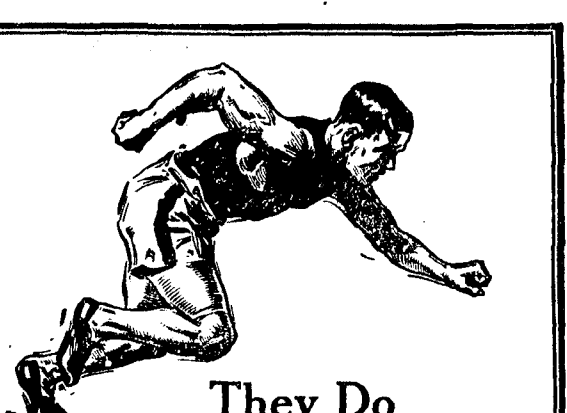

Based on court decisions at Athens, O., and Vevay, Ind., the Legion has directed its posts to obtain all funds in the treasuries of emergency organizations which are no longer concerned with relief of World war fighters.

Wheat Growing, Cattle Raising and a Happy Home of Your Own

Prosperous Farms and Happy Homes await those who are desirous of enlarging their present resources and securing for themselves homes in a country that, while yet in its infancy, has made itself famous by the quality of the grain it produces and by the excellence of its live stock.

There are Millions of Acres of the highest class of soil available for the man whose object in life is to become his own landlord, and who wishes to share in the opportunity which has given wealth to the thousands of Americans who, having started on Western Canada farms with but small means, are now writing home to their friends, telling of what they have done. Lands are cheap and homesteads farther from lines of railway are free to settlers. Upon these lands can be grown the best of wheat, oats, barley, flax, grass, hay, fodder, corn and sunflowers.

Cattle winter in most places without shelter; delaying is highly successful. Taxes only upon land (not on improvements). Perfect climate, attractive social conditions, good neighbors, churches, schools, telephones, excellent markets and shipping facilities.

For illustrated literature, maps, description of farm opportunities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, reduced railway rates, etc., write to

We extend to all our sincere wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

We are happy in the thought of the confidence of our friends, their faith in us as merchants and as individuals.

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Grayling, Mich., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.
O. P. Schumann, Editor and Proprietor
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1922.

IT HAS BEEN the writer's idea for a long time that we must have material prosperity before we can have much of anything else.
The greatness of the United States, I believe, is due to the fact that we have been able to produce necessities of life in such quantities that there has been enough to go round.
In other words, all of the good things—education, culture, spiritual development, and even our democratic form of government are contingent on prosperous business.

Among a certain class of dreamers, the business man is regarded as something to be stepped on.
Factories are places where dirty work is done.
Sweat is something that stinks.
Profit is a fly in the ointment.
Now, I would not crown the business man with a helmet of lies. That is neither necessary nor desirable. It is more important that those whose activities are not directly related to business, get a better understanding of the true relation of material production to progress.

I have found this most effectively expressed by Walter E. Weyl in his book "The New Democracy." He says: "The growth of two baies of cotton, or two bushels of wheat, where one grew before, may make the difference between a besotted, superstitious, and reactionary people and an intelligent, cultured, and progressive people. Until the material problems which beset mankind are solved; until misery, disease, crime, insanity, drunkenness, degeneration, ignorance and greed are removed (and their removal costs money), humanity will not be able to essay the problems of mind and of social intercourse. However spiritual a structure civilization is, it is nevertheless built upon wheat, pork, steel, money, wealth.

That is the clearest and strongest statement on that subject I have ever read.

The ancient Greek civilization boomed because its roots were watered with the sweat of slave labor. A small percentage of the population was thereby freed from the necessity of daily toil and gave its attention to the arts, elevating them to a point which no succeeding civilization has been able to reach.

In America, we have successfully organized a democracy in which we are trying to extend equal opportunity to all. We are not seeking more leisure to all. We are not seeking more leisure life for the many.

Equal opportunity, however, means nothing if it merely consists of the privilege of sitting at a table at which no food is served. That is the outcome of the Russian idea of democracy. Before there can be compulsory education there must be a surplus from which children can be fed and clothed while they are attending school.

Before there can be libraries, research institutes, art galleries, hospitals, museums, theatres, conservatories, parks, and play-grounds, there must be money to build them and to maintain them.

Underneath, and supporting all these fine institutions, is modern business—the efficient production of necessities.

Let's encourage people to read good books and teach them to enjoy symphonic music, but, in heaven's name, let's not forget that the soil must be heven. Without food and fire there will be hunger and cold. Under such conditions men have used books and violins for firewood.

ANOTHER year has about rolled around and next Monday will be the beginning of a new one. Are we ready for it? Have we fulfilled our duties to the present year? We believe these are questions we should ask ourselves and then spend a little time in reviewing the past twelve months. Are we growing bigger and better or are we standing still or even slipping backwards? Have we lead lives of usefulness or have we been idlers? Have we taken time to think of others or have we been selfish and living for ourselves alone?

Let us analyze ourselves and thus learn the plain, unvarnished truth. Then we will be better prepared for that New Year resolution. Let us not make it lightly but be guided by sober reflection, and then stick to it if we can. It may be only a broken resolve and soon be forgotten but a broken resolution is far better than no resolution at all. Everyone should be ready to turn to page 1923 on New Year eve with a firm and steadfast resolution to perform better things during the year ahead, to the glory of ourselves and to the people with whom we come in contact.

I HAVE been much impressed by a remark of Dr. Raymond F. Bacon, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh. He says the most valuable man for research work is an individual of peculiar normality and unusual industry and patience.

Peculiar normality!
An interesting pair of words.
Most of our "great men," whom we consider endowed with qualities that are super-normal, turn out upon acquaintance to be "peculiarly normal." They are just like ourselves—only more so.

They accomplish more than the average because they put forth more than average effort.
They have more than normal patience, normal common sense, and normal judgment. That is about all there is to genius.

I think it is this fact that often baffles a successful man when he tries to explain to a younger generation the route to that goal known as "Achievement." It is not a difficult route if the wayfarer is endowed with the "peculiar normality" that enables him to move forward just a little bit more each day than the average.

MAKE CHANGES IN DRY LAW FORCE

PROHIBITION DIRECTOR HAYNES SAYS EIGHT STATES TO HAVE NEW CHIEFS.

NARCOTIC DIVISION TO BE BIGGER

Local Police Authorities to Work With Regular U. S. Men in Making Rum Raids.

Washington—Reorganization of the prohibition unit will begin on New Year's day with appointments, dismissals and transfers in the official ranks of the dry force throughout the United States, it was stated at Commissioner Haynes' office Monday.

For more effective campaigning against the drug traffic, it is likely numerous agents may be transferred to the narcotic division.

Commissioner Haynes will appoint a new director in Texas, a position left vacant by a recent resignation. Several states where acting directors now function will be affected, either by appointments of directors from outside the present force or by the promotion of present state heads.

These states are Montana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, New York, Louisiana and New Jersey.

E. C. Yellowly who took charge of prohibition enforcement in New York when Ralph Day resigned on November 1 is expected to be named director for that state.

The Illinois directorship was left vacant by the resignation of Director Gregory, and Haynes will defer appointment until he has conferred with Senator Medill McCormick, who has just returned from Europe.

Coincident with changes in the ranks of the prohibition force, police departments throughout the country will be advised on New Year's day of the altered relations between themselves and prohibition agents.

President Harding has sanctioned Haynes' idea of letting the municipal and state police conduct raids and enforce the Volstead act in minor cases, leaving the federal agents free for work on a larger scale.

All of these changes are features of Commissioner Haynes' enforcement campaign for 1923.

SAYS ALLIES LACK IN WISDOM

Senator McCormick Declares Desperate Situation Faces Europe

Washington—Senator Medill McCormick, Republican, Illinois, who has just returned from Europe, declared Monday in commenting upon the financial situation of governments of Europe is so desperate serious events may befall within a short time unless victors of the great war inject more wisdom and prudence into their policy of dealing with problems in the wake of that conflict.

The Illinois senator declared agreement upon a sound and "realizable" program for settlement of the reparations problem was imperative or the franc and lide soon would follow the mark, crown and ruble in decline and economic conditions abroad would be crushing.

FORD SALES RECORD BROKEN.

According to a statement issued by the Ford Motor Company, deliveries of Ford cars and trucks to retail buyers during the month of November totaled 106,327. This is a new high sales record that has never before been approached by the Company at this season of the year and one which stands out in marked contrast to the November 1921 retail delivery figures which totaled slightly over 53,000 cars and trucks.

For eight consecutive months, beginning with April 1st of this year, retail deliveries have exceeded 100,000 Ford cars and trucks each month; the accumulated total for the first eleven months of 1922 being approximately 1,205,000. While the Company points out that it is not unusual for Ford retail sales to exceed the 100,000 mark during the Spring and early summer months when the demand is at its peak, the manner in which business has been up throughout the balance of the year is without precedent.

Credit for this remarkable showing is attributed by the Ford Motor Company to the many improvements which have lately been made on Ford cars and particularly to the new low level of Ford prices, recently put into effect. These new low prices not only broaden the field of prospective Ford purchasers but go still further in making the Ford car the best value from the standpoint of the retail buyer, that it has ever been.

Although the Ford factories have been operating at capacity for the past eight months, sales have equalled production and judging from the unusual manner in which orders are coming in at this season of the year Ford dealers will be unable to accumulate stock of cars during the winter months for delivery next spring.

In the opinion of the Ford Motor Company, November sales are an indication that many prospective purchasers, realizing the exceptional value now being offered in Ford cars, are beginning to anticipate unusual spring demand and are therefore placing orders during the fall and will continue to do so throughout the winter to avoid disappointing delays in delivery later on. While this will relieve the situation to some extent, it is pointed out that the steadily increasing demand for Ford cars is nevertheless sure to create an acute shortage as the season advances.

Accordingly, the Ford Sales organization is urging prospective Ford purchasers to arrange for delivery during the winter months in order that the demand next spring will be relieved as far as possible.

The Michelson Memorial church was filled to its capacity on Friday evening for the Xmas exercises and general good time for the Sunday School. The church had been beautifully decorated with Christmas trees one, a perfect specimen which stood in the choir loft and was brilliant with lights and Xmas tree trimmings. After a very interesting program had been rendered Santa Claus appeared with a large sack of candy and oranges, which surely pleased the children. Prof. Fuller and Miss Beulah Ewing assisted by the Sunday School orchestra under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Smith, and the class teachers were responsible for the success of the occasion.

Many homes in Grayling entertained guests over the Yuletide, but we doubt if any one home entertained as many guests as that of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen. All have returned home except Mrs. Olson and children and Mrs. Tope who will remain until the end of this week.

It was a sickening sight at about noon last Sunday to see one of our young boys, Earl Barber of Frederic, being lead off to jail by Sheriff Richardson, for being drunk. The young man comes from a fine home where his parents, brothers and sisters are held in the highest respect and esteem. Earl is an excellent boy, having served in Uncle Sam's navy during the war, and there is every reason why he should be every inch a man and respected citizen. This isn't his first offense for last spring he was arrested for a similar offense when he was driving a car while drunk and his father paid a fine and costs amounting to about $86 to keep him from serving a jail sentence. For this latter case he pleaded guilty and is now serving ten days in the county jail to pay for his misdeeds. The parents are broken hearted over the affair but they refuse to again pay a fine and will let him serve his just sentence. Brought up in a home where the spirit of good example was of the best, it is hard to understand how such a young man as Earl can so degrade himself that he is sure to sooner or later, if he continues in his present ways, become an outcast in society and despised by the very friends who helped him along in his drunken career, is hard to understand.

Mack, in the Gaylord Herald-Times says: That it is more fun to see a man read a puff on himself in a newspaper than to see a fat man slip on a banana peeling. The narrow-minded man reads it over seven or eight times and then goes around and appropriates what copies he can. The kind-hearted man goes home, and reads it to his wife and then goes around to his office and pays what he owes. The successful business man who advertises regularly and makes money by it, starts out to find the editor, and then the two walk silently down the street to a soft drink parlor and the business man takes sugar in his'n and they both eat a clove or two and life is sweeter, and peace settles down on their hearts for a moment. Such is the experience of mustard seed that falls on different ground.

XMAS AT FREDERIC.

The school Xmas festivities for the pleasure of the public held at Frederic Friday night were very much of a success. There was a large crowd present.

A fine program of music and recitations, and dialogues was presented by the pupils of the school. There was a real Santa Claus present. He had a Santa Claus makeup and acted the part to perfection. He talked to the children and assured them that their parents were proud of them and for the fine way they were getting along in school, and praised their program of the evening.

There was a fine large Xmas tree well loaded with presents and every little thing was remembered. It was a happy occasion and equally enjoyed by the grown-ups. The teachers and pupils are to be praised for their fine program and for the excellent manner in which it was presented.

"Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New!"

Lauriger Horatius, quem dixit verum
Fugit Euro citius tempus edax rerum.

Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis
By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

HE Latin has a terse and forcible way of putting things. Now, the first quotation above has been rendered in free-and-easy style:

Old Man Horace, sprigged with bay
Truly thou dost say, sir
Time speeds faster on its way
Than the swiftest racer.

Clever, but the Latin says it more forcibly: Crowned-with-laurel Horace, what you say is true: Fleets than the southeast wind faster time the devourer of things.

And the second quotation above neatly supplements the first by saying: Times change and we are changed in them.

All of which suggests most forcibly that time has destroyed the old-fashioned method of observing several of our American national holidays; that the times have changed and we in them.

Now, there's the Fourth of July, for example. The old-fashioned Fourth is so entirely gone that we don't quite know what to do with the day. In the old days we used to twist the Lion's tail when we didn't know what else to do, but since we fought side by side with the British in the Great War, that seems as out of place as do firecrackers and the casualty list of small boys.

And it's just about the same with New Year's Day. About all that's left us is to listen to the whistles blowing at midnight and to make good resolutions. And what changes the day has seen since first Americans began its celebration!

America's celebration of New Year's Day owes nothing to Puritan New England. In the North New Year, being Dutch, was the center of New Year's day. The South, being English, but not Puritan, also celebrated enthusiastically. The custom of making calls probably is as old as civilization; it is likely that it originated independently in almost every clime. Old-time European Christians used to set "New Year's" apart as a day on which they would condescend to receive substantial tributes from their underlings. Queen Elizabeth received New Year's calls every year, and there was always much rivalry between her ambitious courtiers as to the quantity and value of the gifts they should bestow upon the virgin sovereign. It was on New Year's Day that Sir Walter Raleigh gladdened the queen's heart with a memorable pair of silk stockings. The first ever made and worn in England.

In Holland the custom of making New Year's calls had been general long before the settlement of New Amsterdam, and the natives of the Netherlands who came to live in the New World brought the practice with them. And of course, they had plenty to eat and drink—for who ever heard of Dutchmen who did not take good care of their stomachs?

Up to the beginning of the Nineteenth century the typical New Year's observance was a neighborly custom. Then it became an observance decreed by fashion and was observed in every city of any size in the country.

The younger women of such households as had daughters were the hostesses, and great was their rivalry, one with another, in respect of richly laden refreshment tables and elegance of toilet. The "beaux" and "dandies" and "gallants" attired themselves in their best and started out early in the morning, calling first at the houses where matrons resided, and afterward upon the younger ladies. The drinks that were offered at every house of any prominence were ardent and diverse.

It was not until about the middle of the century or thereabouts that the abuse which finally led to the custom's decline began. For years the dandies rivaled one another in the length of their calling lists, and the calls soon came to be nothing more than lusty gorgings of cake and gulping of wine.

Then the ladies—the matrons as well as the young women—began to vie with one another in the number of their callers. This led to the most extraordinary practices. Callers were recruited, drummed up. Cards announcing that Miss This-or-That would be "at home" on January 1 were sent out almost indiscriminately. The Sunday newspapers began to print lists of those who would receive, and the houses of those mentioned in the lists were sure to be besieged by multitudes of men whom the ladies had never met or heard of and desired never to meet again.

Men would go calling in couples and parties, and even in droves of 30 or more, remaining as short a time at each stopping place as possible, and announcing everywhere how many calls they had already made, and how many they expected to make before they finished. At every place they drank. The result was a most appalling assortment of "jags" long before dawn, and a crowding of the police stations at night.

This New Year's observance finally became so abused that it was called a "moral evil" and was attacked by reformers everywhere and ministers thundered against it from the pulpit. Finally fashion set its face against it and it died a gradual death.

Its place was taken after a while by eating and drinking in the restaurants, and by the street carnyvuls.

If Croesus himself had come back to earth and had visited New York, or any big city in the country—in 1922, he could not have got a seat in any restaurant of note after ten o'clock the night of December 31, for all his fabulous wealth. In fact, he probably couldn't have got inside the door. Every table was engaged—at big prices and long in advance. Diners had to get out at nine o'clock and guards at the doors saw that none except those with credentials got in. During the last hour of the Old Year the people feasted, and at the first stroke of the New Year everybody in every restaurant arose, wine-glass in hand, and drank a health to the New Year.

It was comparatively quiet indoors, but the people in the streets made noise enough to scare young 1900. Every sort of noise-making implement known to man except cannon and dynamite bombs was in active use.

"Get your horns and ticklers!" was the prayer roared by thousands of fakers all evening. Trucks and wagons were loaded at the curb, loaded with tin horns and thin sticks with a bunch of buck-teethers at the tip. If you were a real devilish New Year's humorist you proceeded like this: First, tickle some stranger under the chin with the feathers; then, as he turned to protest, you blew the horn in his face.

A universal custom of New Year's of those days was the carrier's New Year's address. This was often in rhyme if the carrier or any of his friends could bring the jangling lists together or find an old carrier's address to copy. Such verses as these were popular:

This day devoted now to mirth,
To open house and social heart,
New friends made on any wings,
And gives her useful harp new strings.
While plenty spreads a festive board,
Of wine and food and ample board,
In homes and laughter day,
To spend the hours this happy day,
All save the carrier, whose snowy feet
Still must pace up the snowy street,
So give to him a moment's heed,
So he can take the comfort needed,
And to your ample jovial store
Let him not add a closed door, etc., etc.

By 1914 there were strong indications of a sadder celebration of New Year's. The feasting in restaurants, New Year's Eve was still in full blast, but singing and dancing added. But most of the large cities had ordered the police to enforce a "sane" celebration on the streets. In consequence there was less noise and rowdiness out of doors. Chicago, for instance, forbade horns, confetti and ticklers.

Cleveland probably had the "sanest" New Year's Eve in 1914. That city gave the New Year a "community" greeting, in keeping with the spirit of community Christmas celebrated a week before. Twelve bars, with 280 musicians, were massed in the public square. To an audience of thousands they played hymns and patriotic airs.

Announcement by the police that the midnight closing law would be enforced rigidly cut hotel and restaurant festivities down markedly. In Cincinnati the police had the promise of every hotel, cafe and saloon keeper to close promptly at midnight. Similar conditions prevailed in Detroit and Indianapolis.

Then came the Great War. And then prohibition.

So at present the celebration of New Year's Eve and New Year's Day is betwixt and between.

What will it be ten years from now? And what a century hence?

Wings of Birds and Fishes

By studying the wing structure of flying fish, an authority on the flight of birds has found that their wings are some four or five times as efficient for soaring flight as the wings of birds. He attributes this to the fact that the fin rays formed projected ridges on the under surface of the wings. By experimenting with models fashioned on similar lines, he found that the fin ray caused a sheltered area to appear back of the ray when the model moved through the air. His conclusion is that this sheltered area acts as a force to drive the wing ahead when soaring.

"Saint Tammany."
St. Tammany, the legendary genius of the famous Tammany Society of New York city, was a famous Indian chief about whom many fanciful legends have gathered. He is said to have been a native of Delaware. After attaining his majority, St. Tammany removed to the banks of the Ohio, where he became the great sachem of his tribe, and acquired a wide reputation for wisdom, firmness and moderation. According to tradition, he signed the treaty with William Penn, and was chosen by the troops of Washington as patron saint of the place of St. George. His principal maxim was "Unity, in peace for mutual happiness; in war for mutual defense." For what reason he was called "Saint" does not appear in any of the literature about him.

THE GULF STREAM

A correspondent writes a surprising story about the influence of the Gulf stream upon Ireland. He says that there is a stretch of about ten miles at Achill Head, County Mayo, where the stream hits Ireland. This point is a actually tropical and hanaaz palms and various flora flourish there as they do in the tropics, while a mile or so either north or south of this point lies the cold damp temperature of the rest of Ireland.

Scotland's Patron Saint

St. Andrew's day is November 30. St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland, was the first disciple of Christ and afterward an apostle. He was like his brother Peter a fisherman. Previous to his recognition of Christ as the Messiah he had been numbered among the disciples of John, the Baptist. The church of St. Andrew as an apostle after the death of Christ is unknown. Tradition says that after preaching the gospel in Scythia, northern Greece, and Ephesus, he suffered martyrdom, on the cross at Patras, in Achaia, 62 or 70 A. D. A cross formed of beams obliquely placed is styled St. Andrew's cross. St. Andrew is held in great veneration in Russia as the apostle who, according to tradition, first preached the Gospel in that country and in both Scotland and Russia there is an order of knighthood named in his honor.

CHICAGO TO GET FORD PLANT

Auto Manufacturer Acquires Title to 70-Acre Tract of Land

Chicago—Henry Ford is going to build a $6,000,000 manufacturing and assembling plant in Hegewisch, Ill., a few miles outside of the city limits of Chicago, to employ more than 16,000 men when completed and which, it is predicted, ultimately will be one of the world's greatest automobile establishments, possibly in time rivaling the Detroit works, which is understood to have about reached the limit of growth.

Title to a 70-acre tract was taken by the Ford Motor company Dec. 21 and the first of four proposed units, which will cost $1,500,000 each, is expected to be employing 4,000 men by next May.

The official announcement settles definitely the rumor that merely an assembling plant was contemplated. The company's closed car bodies, formerly constructed at Detroit, will be built here.

U. S. TO SETTLE REPARATIONS

Berlin and London Willing to Have America Fix Charges

Washington—The move to extend American aid in adjusting the reparations disagreement in Europe has reached a stage where a definite plan of action may be decided on in the near future.

As it now is under consideration, the proposal contemplates appointment of an American commission to study economic and industrial conditions in Germany and to fix the total of reparations, which the German government may reasonably be expected to pay.

Although all discussion of the project has been of an unofficial character, it is the understanding in authoritative circles here that both Great Britain and Germany are willing to accept the award of such a commission.

PUBLIC TO BE JUDGE OF "FATTY"

Reinstatement of Arbuckle Meaning Less Unless Public Wishes Films.

Detroit—Unless public opinion undergoes a marked change, "Fatty" Arbuckle and his antics will not be shown in Detroit and other Michigan motion picture theaters. H. N. Richey, general manager of the Motion Picture Owners' association declared in a statement.

The hue and cry of protest raised by clergymen and club women in Michigan and over all the country indicate clearly to the theater owners that Arbuckle's reinstatement by Will H. Hays, overlord of the movie world, is not approved by the public. Richey said.

New York—San Diego, Cal., had the highest suicide rate in 1921 and New York city had the smallest, according to statistics compiled by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Insurance Co. The San Diego suicide rate is 4.87 per 100,000, while that of New York is 17.9 per 100,000. San Francisco, Spokane, Los Angeles and Louisville stand next to San Diego in the order named.

Calls Maternity Law Unconstitutional

Washington—Constitutionality of the Shepard-Towner maternity and infancy law was challenged in a suit filed in the District of Columbia supreme court by Mrs. Harriet A. Frothingham, of Boston. She asked that Secretary Mellon and other designated government officials be restrained from expending public funds under the act. Mrs. Frothingham based her action on the ground that congress, in enacting the legislation, exceeded its powers.

Woman Love Private Deported.

Cleveland—Eight aliens, including one woman, left for New York, from where they will be deported. The woman was charged with having stolen the affections of her sister's husband. The woman, with her daughter, arrived in this country July 22 from Hungary, where her husband died recently. She made her home with her sister, at Martin's Ferry, Ohio, until the latter, claiming she had won her husband's favor, ejected the woman and child, who then became public charges.

A pastor should be studying all the time, the bishop said.

Vaccini sued for $20,000, claiming he suffered severe humiliation when on June 28, 1918, he was ordered out of the hotel dining room by Dauton and given the porcine moniker and haughty stare.

Menace of Auto Speeders Grows

Various Punishments Meted Out to Stop Steadily Mounting Toll of Victims.

JAIL SENTENCES EFFECTIVE

Digest of Reports From Middle Western States Shows Methods Being Employed to Check Evil—Fines $2 Per Mile.

What do you think ought to be done to stop the slaughter by auto speeders?

Chicago.—Heavier fines, jail sentences and trips through morgues and hospitals to view the dead and injured victims of reckless automobilists are becoming effective in many parts of the Middle West to curb the steadily mounting toll of auto victims, a digest from the report of several states shows.

Fines alone, the reports indicate, are not proving effective. In Chicago and Cook county, despite increasingly heavy fines, the death toll in automobile accidents for the fiscal year ending November 30 was 738 lives, as compared with 660 last year and 542 the year before. There were 75 automobile deaths in November of this year.

In Louisville, where 41 persons were killed by automobiles in the first eleven months of the year, fines have also failed, officials say. One police judge there imposes fines of $2 for each mile per hour on speeders, and adds jail sentences if the prisoner was intoxicated.

A successful campaign was launched at Detroit more than a year ago, when Judge Charles L. Bartlett began sending speeders to jail for terms of one to fifteen days. Among those sentenced was John Duval Dodge, wealthy young man, who served five days.

Recently speeding returned to Detroit and Judge Bartlett began conducting offenders through the morgues and hospitals to see the results of speeding. Arrests the week after the trips started dropped from 74 to 25.

Revokes Driver's License. In Cincinnati jail sentences have been invoked and in some cases driver's licenses revoked.

Cleveland, with 116 deaths and 2,386 injuries in traffic accidents up to the middle of November, is employing workhouse sentences and morgue and hospital visits, as well as fines. Six speeders were sentenced to attend the funeral of a four-year-old victim of a speeder.

City Law Director Lambias proposes the speed of automobiles passing schools, playgrounds and churches be limited to ten miles an hour; that judges be authorized to revoke speeders' licenses; a uniform signal system for autoists stopping, turning or backing and that no one under eighteen years of age be permitted to drive in cities or under sixteen years of age on any road.

In Des Moines Police Chief John Hammond has ordered intoxicated drivers held without bail, while judges are adding jail sentences in many cases to heavy fines.

Judge George E. Mils of St. Louis, who assesses fines as high as $300, has added a traffic law school to his court. Speeders who admit they know the traffic ordinances draw heavy fines. Those who do not are required to sit down between two policemen and study it. When they can recite the entire law to the judge they get a lighter fine.

In Indiana, the secretary of state has revoked autoist's licenses on recommendations of courts, and has promised to continue his co-operation. Judge Delbert Wilmoth of the Indianapolis court has added jail sentences to fines of third convictions.

Impose $25 Fines.

Kansas City has had occasional heavy fines on jail sentences, but no continued campaign against speeders. Police take license numbers of traffic law violators and on the third violation a fine of $25 is imposed.

Judge W. F. Wappick of Omaha takes groups of speeders to hospitals in the police patrol to see their victims and then assesses fines.

Judge Sylvester J. McAtee of San Francisco recently sentenced a speeder to sixty days in jail, and announced he would continue a drastic campaign against traffic law violators.

Oklahoma officials at Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Muskogee are warring on speeders. Twenty-two persons have been killed in Muskogee county and eleven in Oklahoma City this year. The worst offenders in Dallas are eight commercial trucks, according to Judge P. D. Crawford. He assesses fines up to $200.

ARID AREAS ARE BEING RECLAIMED

Government Bureau Adds 1,675,000 Acres in 20 Years.

Annual Report Gives Result of Twenty Years of Operation of Reclamation Act—Government Investment $135,000,000.

Washington.—A 20-year review of government reclamation work is contained in the annual report for the fiscal year ended last June of director Arthur I. Davis of the United States reclamation service of the Department of the Interior, as the 17th day of June, 1922, marked the completion of 20 years of operation of the national reclamation act.

The investment of the government during this period has been in round numbers $135,000,000, which has accomplished the construction of works by which about 1,675,000 acres of furrow and bar in the West has been furnished with a complete water supply and about 1,000,000 additional acres in private projects has received a supplemental supply. On government projects the area comprises 31,462 farms, at an average area per farm of about fifty-three acres, supplying more than 30,000 families.

With the investment mentioned the service has excavated more than 200,000,000 cubic yards of earth and rock, of which about 14,000,000 cubic yards have been placed in dunes. Canals aggregating more than 13,000 miles have been built, including 27 miles of tunnels, and 135 miles of flumes. Structures of all kinds and sizes, to the number of 10,000 have been erected in connection with the work.

Some of the large projects constructed are the Roosevelt dam in Arizona, which is 200 feet high; the Arrowrock dam in Idaho, 210 feet high; Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico, 306 feet high, and the Pathfinder and Shoshone dam in Wyoming.

218 and 328 feet high, respectively. Reclamation work also included the erection of many other dams, canals and tunnels, flumes, drains, power plants, transmission, and telephone lines, roads, railroads, pumping plants and a variety of other classes of incidental work.

From an agricultural standpoint, the report said, the reclamation service has added another state to the Union, equal in value of its agricultural products to that of the state of West Virginia or the combined values of the crops of Vermont and Connecticut. The value of crops raised on farms on government projects in 1921 amounted to $49,520,300, exclusive of about $45,000,000 additional raised on private projects which were furnished water from works erected by the service.

Great Men a National Need.

It is the crown of a nation, one might almost say, the chief duty of a nation, to produce great men, for without them its history is but the annals of ants and bees.—James Russell Lowell.

This road does not wait for calls to arrive, but keeps all plows busy during a snowstorm.

Railroad men declare that the delay occasioned by snowstorms on main lines has become negligible, except in severe weather and terrible storms, but admit more work is necessary on the branch lines because of the impassability of the plows. Some railroad officials are inclined to believe that the winters in the Northwest have been milder of recent years, while others declared the use of modern equipment has made it seem the weather had less effect on the railroads.

Vogue for Tailored Clothes;

Knitted Coats Please Tots

RUMORS from Paris are floating about us, telling us that tailored clothes in new interpretations are making long strides toward taking first place in the wardrobe. In a measure they appear to be supplanting afternoon dresses and may divide popularity with sports clothes at winter resorts. From these they seem to have taken their cue; for the new suits and tailored dresses are youthful, trim, even boylike, and formal suits reflect something of this buoyancy of the mode. In dresses, bodices of one material which we please to term "style" so asserted itself as in knitted outerwear. The style element has especially entered into children's knitted outer garments. Those versed in childhood's ways agree that tiny tots are astonishingly sensitive to the niceties of attractive color and clever detail in the clothes they wear. In the charming knitted coats brought out this season little girls' ideals of all that is loveliest in winter wraps are realized. It is safe to say that mother or big sister experience no more rapturous and skirts of another are among the ideas that are destined to hold over the transition from winter to spring and in suits there are handsome models in which coats of different fabric from the skirt or dress worn under them. One such model is shown in the picture. It is a handsome example having a full, short coat of a soft-fabric worn over a dress of heavy crepe, matching it in color. Fine martens fur, in the collar, cuffs and trimmings, make the coat a very rich thrills over their luxurious seal or chinchilla fur coats than does little Miss Two-to-Seven (perhaps older, perhaps younger) over her knitted coat, especially when it has brushed wool collar and cuffs such as are shown on the coat to the right in the picture. The attractiveness of the garment is greatly enhanced by contrasting a close even stitch in the waist and sleeves, with a fancy wide-welt stitch for the skirt, plaited in broad border of course the buttons with knitted affair and an elaborate grille, of silk and metal braid, underlines to bear out the richness of the fur. The longest of flat tassels is suspended from silk ornaments and cords; it reaches the bottom of the skirt and is a splendid and telling garnishment.

The season has presented handsome suits of this kind in which rich fur fabrics are used to the best advantage. They make the coats and the lower part of dresses of crepe or other suitable material worn under them.

For her of kindergarten age, what could be prettier than a knitted coat, such as the little girls in the picture are wearing? In no class of apparel has that intangible something loops are exactly the right finish, touch.

It is the fashion to wear hats to match the knitted coat. A brushed wool snug cap tops the cuffs and collar of same, on the taller girl.

The fact that the knitted coat is an all-year-around garment should also be taken into consideration. Wraps as herewith portrayed serve admirably in midsummer, and they are ever ready when cool summer breezes stir or autumn's chill comes on.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MUSK-OX WAYS

"Listen to me, my child," said Mother Musk-Ox, "and I will tell you of the family ways."

"You are my only child and you are a beautiful young musk-ox. Yes, you are as beautiful a young musk-ox as there could be, I know."

"Perhaps when we join the herd and all go travelling together there will be other Musk-Ox mothers who will not agree with me."

"But I will not mind for they will know they are right and that I am wrong."

"So we will all be quite happy and contented and quite sure our own opinion is right."

"Now I like to give all my attention to you—that is I like to take care of one child at a time. I wouldn't be like some animals who welcome a number of babies."

"I feel that I can only properly take care of one at a time."

"The great danger in our lives is the approach of wolves. Always regard wolves with fear and keep away from them."

"We have not the best of eyesight but we can smell things from afar and in that way we can protect ourselves."

"We can run quickly when danger is near even though we are such huge creatures."

"For we are big. We look something like a buffalo though we belong to both the cattle creatures and the sheep family."

"My Only Child."

"Oh, yes, we can run quickly and we can hide in the rocks and we can get up steep places which are hard for others to climb."

"And you must follow the usual Musk-Ox ways. You too must learn to do all these things, my dear Musk-Ox child, the joy and pride of Mother Musk-Ox's heart."

"When you grow to be big you must do as we will all do for you. When danger is so close that there is nothing we can do, all of the grown-up musk-ox gather in a circle about our children, and then, with our heads out and a circle of horns to attack the enemy, we are ready."

"But the children we protect. We do this even against our dreadful enemies, the wolves."

"Yes, we protect our children. They cannot protect themselves as we can protect them."

"They cannot do what we can do. So we keep them safe from harm, and we stand about them, ready to face the danger."

"If our circle remains unbroken then our children are saved. And oh, many has been the splendidly brave circle of musk-oxen which would not be broken—and so the children were saved."

"And when you become a grown-up you must do the same for the younger ones."

"I will, Mother Musk-Ox," said her child. "I will not be a coward."

"With such Musk-Ox bravery as an example I would be ashamed of myself if I were ever called a coward, or if I ever did anything which would entitle any one to call me a coward."

"I will be brave, Mother Musk-Ox."

"Of course you will, my dear," she said.

"We live far, far North and of course it is cold in these parts," Mother Musk-Ox continued.

"Our summer is a very short one. We do not see very much of the sun."

"For during the winter there are long weeks and even months when we only have night!"

"No daytime at all, only night."

"And yet we do not complain. We have not chosen the best climate, nor have we chosen the best land, nor have we chosen a country where it is easy to get along."

"We rather like the struggle that we have to put up with here in order to get along."

"It seems rather fine not to lead a lazy, worthless life."

"It seems then as though it were so nice to feel that in spite of all obstacles we are holding our own and getting along and living and protecting one another."

"Yes, we have not chosen easy paths to follow, we have chosen hard ones, worthy of our musk-oxen mettle—which means our musk-oxen character."

"For we would not want to be weak and flabby and pampered."

SUES BROTHERS FOR INJURIES

Deputy Labor Commissioner Must Decide Strange Case

Cadillac, Mich.—Samuel G. Beattie, deputy labor commissioner, heard a strange case here for the industrial accident board. Oscar Seegmiller employed by his brothers, John and Walter, as emergency delivery man, took his sister Abbie to the home of a dying relative, the trip being made one Sunday.

Near Mt. Morris, the destination, the Seegmiller auto collided with another and the driver was injured. He seeks damages on the ground that he was in the employ of his brothers and they ordered him to make the drive.

The insurance company contends it was a family matter, and the injury was not suffered in the course of regular employment. The decision has been withheld for consideration as there is no precedent for the issue, Mr. Beattie says.

It has been estimated after 18 days' claims, aggregating $81,000, were approved by the city council's finance committee. The city previously had paid $20,800 for five other deaths. Fifteen death claims remain unsettled.

Damage to property was not included in the estimated figure of $500,000.

During the riots, according to an investigating commission, 543 persons were injured, 178 white, 348 Negroes and 17 of undetermined race.

Washington.—Acceptance of a bid of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company for purchase of all royalty oil accruing to the government in the next five years from the Salt Creek field in Wyoming, was announced by Secretary of the Interior Fall.

Convict Trainmen for Desertion.

Los Angeles.—Eight union trainmen leaders were convicted of conspiracy to obstruct interstate commerce for their activities in connection with a strike last August against the Santa Fe, by verdict of a jury in the United States district court here. In this strike about 20 trains were abandoned in the California-Arizona desert, leaving the passengers stranded. The defendants are all residents of Needles, Calif. Their attorneys announced an appeal would be taken.

Irish Senate Passes Act

Dublin.—"We have passed the first act by an Irish parliament in 123 years. We have done what many generations of Irishmen have lost their lives to enable us to do," said Sir Thomas Esmond, when the Irish senate passed the first bill presented from the Dail Eireann. The Free State government intends to stand on its declaration that the insurgent forces must lay down their arms and there is no indication that the officials intend to discontinue the infliction of the death penalty.

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

that he will wonder how he ever tried to do without it.

Seventeen Of 'Em.

I know of seventeen people in Crawford County who take Hoard's Dairyman. There may be others. I had a hand in getting these seventeen to be readers.

Easy Money.

Elmer Ostrander reports that he sold in just one year, just closed $266.64 worth of cream, having five cows part of the time, and four part of the time.

Mr. Ostrander is feeding his potato crop to his cows, believing that, thru increased milk flow, saving of grain, keeping fertility on the land, and saving of labor in hauling to town, he is getting as feed far above the present market price for his potatoes.

Mr. Ostrander plans to increase his herd.

Mr. O. B. Scott has already done so, believing that in the long run, there is more in dairying than in potatoes.

Askes—Why Waste Them?

A vast amount of wood is burned each year in Crawford County. Grayling is burning an unusual amount this winter.

Why waste the ashes?

They are rich in lime and potash. That is about all that is in ashes. Saved dry all winter, and dusted on plowed gardens in the spring, then worked in, they greatly improve the soil of our sandy gardens.

Waste not, want not.

Almost Train Time.

Short courses, at the Agricultural College, in dairying, Horticulture (fruit growing), Poultry, and in Agriculture. Begin January 1. Courses last eight weeks. They are very valuable. They are filled with good things. A young man or young woman, taking such a course, takes a great step forward.

It's almost time to go. Isn't there someone in the county going? I have apparently done my best to find someone but, have failed so far. It is too bad. We need the new blood of new ideas in our farming here.

The cost is low—just car fare and board, and a few dollars tuition.

Think of the change, wrought by this course, in a young man's or young woman's life!

One such ought to be sent, every winter, to our Agricultural college. To our farming it would be like introducing new blood into a herd.

Must we fail on this, this winter? Who'd go? Who'd help someone to go?

Not Guilty.

If any farmer feels like saying, "Why have a County Agent? He hasn't helped me any," I reply, "Not Guilty."

True, I have not hauled out the manure, or dug the potatoes, or cut the corn for anyone.

On the other hand, I have furnished a continuous succession of practical ideas, which, if paid attention to, would have profited any farmer in the county, not only his paltry Farm Bureau fee; but, several hundred dollars.

My efforts to get farmers to plant a different class of seed potatoes, seed corn, alfalfa, clover, sweet clover, soy bean seed; to save soil moisture; to improve humus and fertility; to spray apples and have fancy instead of cider apples; to start on better cows; to use lime; to get the poultry ready to buy the groceries for the winter; private advice on personal problems, are only a few items in which I have been of service.

Every farm in the county could have produced several hundred dollars proper care be given to it. She urged more by following the county agent's advice than it was producing without it.

Though the U. S. Government prepares splendid charts for sea captains and lake captains to steer by, these charts will help no one who tosses them aside as mere "Damned pieces of rubbish."

1922 Closes.

Splendid Spirit.

I have had deep enjoyment in my work; for, there has been so much of a willing, open-minded, willing-to-try spirit. I could stand an increase in this.

I work surrounded by a host of loyal friends. We have got things started. It was a heavy load to move, let's keep it going. It's worth while.

We can do things here. There are great dairy prospects here. Let's show them.

So, with my kindest thanks for your support and loyalty in the past, let's grit our teeth and press ahead.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Grayling People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, languor, backache;

Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney ills.

Endorsed in Grayling by grateful friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Charles Austin, Maple St., Grayling, says: "My back caused me trouble and mornings when I got up I felt tired out. It seemed as though my back ached, especially when I did any stooping or lifting work. I couldn't sleep at all and felt tired and worn out and became nervous, irritable and depressed. Black spots before my eyes which bothered me greatly in the morning made me dizzy. I had headaches and was so run down I didn't know what to do. I saw how well Doan's Kidney Pills were liked as I got several boxes at Lewis' Drug Store and after using them I was cured."

"Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply suffer from a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Austin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y."
